Physician Assistant VAMC Primary Care Residency

The North Florida-South Georgia Veterans Health System – University of Florida Physician Assistant Residency in Primary Care focuses on clinical practice integral to providing exemplary healthcare to the nation's veterans.

This 12 month program helps trainees develop expertise in ambulatory settings such as primary care clinics, emergency/urgent care, and a variety of specialty care areas including oncology, cardiology, diabetes, wound care, and geriatrics. Educational opportunities are also available in women's health, substance abuse, traumatic brain injury and simulation-based training in medical procedures

PA residents receive a salary and benefits, and enjoy the predictability of a fixed daily schedule with weekends and federal holidays off. This in-depth exposure to the VA care system is the best possible preparation for a career as a future VA team member.

This nation will remain the land of the free, so long as it is the home of the brave.

Program Mission

To recruit and train highly qualified residents to become exemplary physician assistants with the necessary skills to provide integrated primary care to veterans in need.

Program Description

PA Resident(s) rotate through a 12 month schedule.

Throughout the year the PA Resident(s) will have his/her own assigned weekly continuity clinic in Primary Care and the Diabetes Center of Excellence. In addition, the PA Resident(s) will participate in a year-long longitudinal mentoring, assessment and interdisciplinary curriculum that will be augmented by rotation specific content. In addition to didactic lecture, the Resident(s) will participate in Journal Club, Grand Rounds, and other rotation specific conferences.

Rotation opportunities are also available in the facility's Interdisciplinary Simulation and Education Center.
